Not illustrated. 1907 Excerpt: .leaders an inch or so in thickness, many of which carry good gold values, and from the breaking down of these most of the alluvial gold has evidently been derived. Some of these leaders are fairly persistent and run for considerable distances, whilst others are of very short length. All the main lines of reef exhibit a marked parallelism, striking as a rule five to ten degrees west of north and dipping to the west at an angle of about fifty degrees. Both the larger reefs and the leaders exhibit at times a marked lenticular habit, but this can hardly be said to be the general characteristic. The quartz in the larger reefs is usually white and glassy, being very hard and solid, and as a rule of low grade, though some fairly good crushings have been taken out of one or two of them. A considerable quantity of alluvial gold has been obtained from the gullies running down from the hills, at a depth of from two to six feet, and mostly from those on the western side. This gold has undoubtedly been derived from the breaking down of small quartz leaders running across the gullies, and as a rule it is small, but one or two good-sized pieces have been found. Near the townsite on the flat at the south-west foot of the hills, a water shaft has been sunk to a depth of about 105 feet. At 100 feet a couple of feet...
