HRD Press Inc., U.S., United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .The new Science of Change emphasises our ability as humans to become masters of our destinies. We can control our own predetermined destinies, empower our own intentional destinies and generate our own changeable destinies. In The Human Sciences, Volume II, you will examine the Science of Change and how it helps us break through boundaries limited only by our intellect. This is a powerful resource for business professionals and educators who seek new processes for generating new and better ideas. Dr. Carkhuff is a renowned social scientist who has been generating the science of human generativity for years. In the earlier Volume I of The Human Sciences, we learned how Probabilities Science dominated human existence and defined the conditions of scientific experiments yet was limited in its ability to describe, predict and control human performance. We learned how Possibilities Science addresses the limitations of Probabilities Science and led to Generativity that defines the best processes for generating the best ideas. In Volume II, you will learn how the power of all three of these sciences is employed by the Science of Change. Here is a preview: Part I defines the Science of Change and presents a case study of how this psychology was applied to economics. You will see how a city was dramatically transformed from a declining manufacturing base to an exemplary information technology centre. In Part II, you will learn how the Science of Change enables us to generate solutions to any problem in any human behaviour. And, you will gain a roadmap for change that is developmental and cumulative: We initiate probabilistically, transform possibilistically, culminate generatively and evolve intentionally. In Part III, Dr....
