Furthermore, they are more demanding in the products and services that they require. While most organizations claim to be customer-oriented, customers still usually have to adapt to the way a organization works and not vice-versa. Organizations that want to fulfill the increasing demands of their customers need to adjust their business models and realize that the customer needs to be regarded as the pivotal point around which the business revolves. In many markets organizations became aware of this principle and are currently moving away from market and product centricity towards a complete realignment of business processes in order to integrate with customer processes. By creating additional value, new customer-centric business models lead to lasting customer relations. Customer Relationship Management (CRM) facilitates the establishment and retention of valuable customer relationships by intelligently using customer information to provide organizations with a comprehensive, reliable, and integrated view of its customer base. However, the success of CRM depends on the quality of customer information that is gathered via various channels and customer touch points. At the moment 'Triple Play' is a buzz word of the Information and Communication Technology (ICT) and media industry describing the one-stop provision of multiple communication and entertainment services including telephony, Internet access, and television. In Germany, telcos and cable operators such as Deutsche Telekom AG, Kabel...
