The holy season of Lent which has just begun, should be an occasion for us to think oftener and more seriously than ordinarily of the salvation of our soul. For this reason Holy Church offers us more frequent opportunities than at any other time of the year, by impressive services and sermons, to think over the great truths, which should in particular impel and move us to care for the salvation of our soul. There is, however, no other means of salvation, which exerts such power in the Christian life, and which is more adapted, if properly understood and brought into daily life, to unite man and his heart with God, to take him away from everyday worldly life, and lead him to God, than the doctrine of the Most Holy Sacrament of the Altar....
